

Why does anyone want to challenge our privacy, I am so sorry but the time at home is so limited any more with the expenses of life takes two incomes to survive, so we value our time with our family and we don't want to be interrupted by annoying phone calls. I call whom I want to do business with, and I see that our bank National City is one opposing this, and it is very upsetting because I went to National City for business they did not need to come to me or bother our family with phone calls. So please value me as a customer/client or a potential customer/client and respect our private family time. What if someone is hooking the feeding machine to one of their terminally ill family members, or measuring a dose of pain medication for that same member, by all means please respect the time left with their family and stop the annoying phone calls... Time is precious.... and hopefully you will never be in that spot....but if you were would you want to spend those moments on the phone or with your loved ones...

Thank you for taking time to read this comment, and Please look in the mirror and ask what if it was me? what would I want? Family time or Phone Calls?

Sincerely
The Woodmansee Family
